

The Spanish Embassy in Berlin is in the so-called City-West, near the Berlin Zoo and directly attached to Berlin's great park, the Tiergarten. The actual address is:

Lichtensteinallee 1
10787 Berlin

Public transport serves the Embassy mostly via two stops (see below), but there is always some walking involved (see our map below). We recommend you leave your luggage at the hotel if you are traveling with heavy bags.

Please check Google Maps, or even better, the BVG-App (Berlin's Public Transportation System) upon arrival, because frequent construction and/or road-blocks can alter the usual routes.

The usual routes involve one of these two stops near the Embassy:

- Berlin Zoologischer Garten: Very easily accessible, it is the transportation-hub of the City-West, with long-distance-trains (ICE/IC), regional-trains (RE), local-trains (S), underground (U), and bus service. From Zoo, it's a ca. 10 mins walk to the Embassy, strolling along the Zoo and the canal (see below).
- Nordische Botschaften/Adenauer-Stiftung: It is a bus stop right on the edge of Tiergarten, served by the buses: 100, 106, 187, 200, N26. From here, the walk is a bit shorter (ca. 7 mins) and it takes you through the Tiergarten park.

Getting to Zoologischer Garten Station is fairly simple.

- From Tegel-Airport (ca. 30 min), by taking the X9 bus directly to Zoologischer Garten.
- From Schönefeld-Airport (ca. 60 min). Some regional trains (code RB) and local trains (S) take you directly or with just one change from the airport's train station to Zoologischer Garten. Google or the BVG might propose slightly quicker routes. You can check them here: S Flughafen Berlin-Schönefeld Bhf-10787 Berlin-Tiergarten, Lichtensteinallee 1
- From Berlin Central Station (ger. Hauptbahnhof, ca. 15 min), by taking any of the local trains (S5, S3, S7, S9) to Zoologischer Garten.

Taxi-fares from the airport to the Embassy

- From Berlin-Schönefeld: 42€ approx
- From Berlin-Tegel 20€ approx
